HARRISON AND SONS, LTD.,
PRINTERS IN ORDINARY TO HIS MAJESTY,
ST. MARTIN'S LANE, LONDON, W.C. 2.

The copies of sepulchral stelae, and statues, and other inscribed monuments published in this Part, illustrate the funerary art and customs of the ancient Egyptians under the Ancient and Middle and New Empires, and form an important contribution to the literature of Funerary Archaeology.

The oldest of these monuments are slabs from the maṣṭabah tombs of the Ancient Empire, the earliest dating from the IIIrd dynasty. On them are sculptured scenes representing the slaughter of bull as prescribed by the Book of Opening the Mouth, the transport of funerary offerings to the tomb, and the preparations made for the funeral feast (Plates XIII–XVIII).

The texts and scenes from the maṣṭabah tomb of the great official Ur-āri-en-Ptah are of special importance, for they illustrate the treatment of the decorations and arrangement of the texts on the inner walls of the maṣṭabah tomb of an official under the Vth dynasty. The deceased was a great official, for he was priest, councillor, inspector, overseer of the chancery, king's scribe, king's libationer, and he ministered in one of the great Sun-temples at Šakḳāreh; and he and his wife Khenti-kau-s were akin to the king (Plates I–XII). The canonical list of offerings, though shorter than that found in the royal tombs of the VIth dynasty, contains many interesting variants.

Fragmentary but interesting inscriptions from the famous XIth dynasty temple at Dēr al-Bahrī are given on Plates XXI–XXIV, and copies of inscribed stelae of the XIIth and XIIIth dynasties on Plates XXV–XXVIII. The funerary worship of the kings Mentu-ḥetep, Neb-ḥapt-rā (XIth dynasty), Āmen-ḥetep I and Āāḥmes Nefertāri (XVIIIth dynasty), is well illustrated by the Theban stelae reproduced on Plates XXIX–XLII. An interesting group of texts, etc., from stelae of the XVIIIth and XIXth dynasties found at Abydos, will be found on Plates XLIII–L. Among this group the stele, containing the biography of Neb-uāui, is of special importance; this official was high priest of Abydos and flourished in the reigns of Queen Hatshep-sut and Thothmes III.

The drawings were made by Mr. E. J. Lambert, and the inscriptions were copied by Dr. H. R. Hall, Deputy-Keeper in the Department, who has also drawn up the descriptions of the Plates.
